The Loyal Legion Banquet

Loyal surpassed anything heretofore tempted in this city. The bauquet was complimentary to the lady friends of the Legion. Senator and Mrs. Hawley received the guests in the Arlington Hotel pariors, and at 9:30 the party, numbering 225, sat down to dinner. The toast, "The President of the United States," was responded to by the Marine Band with "Hall to the Chief," of the United States, was responded to by the Marine Band with "Hall to the Chilef." Other toasts followed, with responses by prominent men. It was a distinguished assemblage, comprising many persons high in official and civil life. The arrangement of the banquot tables was very elaborate and the ornamentation quite unique. Upon the first table, facing the guests as they entered, stood a handsome initiation of Barthold's statue Liberty Enlightening the World, made of wax and grease, two feelings. Before the chairman and guests of honor stood a large table ornament of this same material, the base representing dolphins, between which pretty seas-bill filled with jellies were noticeable, the interstees being filled with flowers and green branches. The top, holding boned tarkey, was surmounted by a large vase filled with white, pink, yellow and red roses, which on close uspecifion proved to be cut out of turnits, carrots and beets. Similar ornaments were liberally distributed all over the tables, which were laden with dishes of the most tempting varieties.

First Stabbed, Then Shot

this afternoon on a serious charge of assault to kill. The evidence developed two most murderous assaults. As the Washington Light Infantry was passing up the Avenue yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock a young colored man named William Brown stepped colored man named William Brown stepped on the heel of Abram Jones, also colored, who turned and assaulted him. The fight was supposed to be over, but when they walked a little further on Jones drew a knife and plunged it into the shoulder of Brown. He afterwards drew a pistol and shot an unknown colored man in the ankle, wounding him so badly that he could not appear at court. Licutenant Kelly and Detective Edelin had a struggle with Jones to get him, to the station. The charge was sent to the grand jury, who will also examine the second assault. He was fined $50 for carrying a pistol, and was committed.

Success of Local Gunners. Messrs, Mills, Coxen, Balley and Wagner, all well-known local gunners, met quite u number of Baltimore sporting men at Cross Keys, near that city, yesterday and van-quished them in five live pigeon shooting matches. Coxen made the best score, missmatches. Coxen made the best score, missing only three birds out of sixteen. The first match was a tie between Coxen and another; Mills won the second; the third was a tie between Wagner and Knight; Coxen and two others tied on the fourth. The pigeons were sprung from an ordinary trap, at an average distance of twenty-three yaids from the gur, and had to be taken on the wing before they got out of a radius of eighty yards. Those that escaped the sportsmen's bullets were generally brought down by the bushwhackers who lined the limits of the field. Probably two hundred pigeons were killed during the afternoon. They were dressed and brought to market to-day for sale.

The Orr-Gallagher Trial. The trial of Robert Orr and Frank Galla-gher, the former for murder in killing Stephen Tyrell on July 31, 1881, and the latter as accessory before the fact, was begun in the Criminal Court before Justice MacArthur, this morning. The Govern ment has abandoned the capital offense and is contending for a verdict of mansiaughter. Orr and Tyreil were drunk on the night of the 10th and engaged in a fist fight near the intersection of Twenty-first street and New Hampshire avenue, during which Tyreil received a blow, causing death. It is alleged that Gallagher, looking over his yard fence, encouraged Orr by words to continue forther with Tyreil fellings. yard fence, encouraged Orr by words to continue lighting until Tyrell, falling sense less, ended the contest.

A Fallen Meteor.

As Sergeant Hess was riding through the county yesterday afternoon he was startled by a loud explosion near at hand, and upon investigating the cause he found that a largmeteor had fallen and buried itself some three feet in the ground. Lieutenant Red-way and Sergeant Hess went out this morn-ing to see if they could find the meteor, as the Sergeant was unable to get it yeaterday, but they could only find the evidences that a large body had fallen. The trees for some distance around had been shattered.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

The New York stock market opened 11 'clock this morning in pursuance with the adjournment of the board over Washington's Birthday. Immediately on the opening the bears made a raid on the coal shares, and in the first half hour sold prices down ? to 14 per cent. The market then lapsed into a lifeless state and so continued until 12 o'clock, when the bull cliques went in and bid prices up at a lively rate. At the time of writing the whole list is up \{\} to 2 per cent. from bottom figures. Money loaned at 24 per cent. Exchange dull, 48816-410. Governments firm. ## Week Before the Last and the week before that we offered ome tempting baits to our customers which were telling lures. Last week we made an offer of Trousers, which proved equally successful. Although in the past week we laid in several large lots of seasonable Trousers, yet we do not expect again this season to have occasion to allude to them, trust-Ing to a spontaneous demand the remainder of the term.

> We are opening now spring Overcoats far surpassing in magnitude our previous efforts. One style, especially noticeable, is a sage drab, lined through with the finest of silk; price $20.

We have remodeled our patterns, and produce from them the best fitting gar ments we have hitherto done. Ele gance, style and worth are elements not to be despised. While style is an element of cost, yet our production is so large that it can scarcely be discerned in one garment. We give you cheapness as well as style.

> In advance guard of a superb style, is a brown drab Laverton Twill Overcoat, men's sizes, lined all through with heavy silk serge and faced with same to button holes: price $30.

We have redoubled our efforts to meet the people's approval in furnishing articles of intrinsic worth, as well as stylish garments, to which we have already alluded.

> Light brown-mixed Tweed Overcoats, sizes 34 to 40, silk faced and sleeves lined with satin, we place on our counters for the popular price of $15. Take elevator to 8d floor

Purchasers are more discriminating in he selection of spring Overcoats than winter ones, and deservedly so, because the opportunities of display more frequently recur. There is more promenading in the spring overcoat

> Havana brown (Colorado) mixed spring Overcoats, double and twisted cassimere, silk facings and sleeve linings, sizes 33 to 37; price $15.

The season for the sale of spring Overcoats is necessarily short, but not so with the wearing. As our sale season is short, you must not expect to find a good an assortment to select from in April as you will now.

> Brown, In its various shadings and mixtures, seems to be in request. Another brown we have just opened, is a Tricot-Along. Overcoats of this have silk facings and sleeve lining, and sell for $18. This price is specially low. sizes 33 to 49.

The season for wearing lasts quite up to June, leaving yet over three months of usefulness for spring overcoats. Our stock of these goods is beyond compare. The prices must be right or we could not sell them under our independent system of business; that is, we are not dependent upon people who buy on trust and who must take what they can get at such prices as the sellers choose to impose.
